There's something for everyone to enjoy at Adlestrop's Open Day on the afternoon of 11 June from midday until 5 pm.

The Fun Dog Show at 2'o'clock will be judged by Eleanor Tomlinson, star of BBC's 'Poldark', after Ploughman's Lunches at the Village Hall from 12 o'clock, and fantastic homemade teas all afternoon. A range of delightful gardens are open in this unspoilt Cotswold village and in the church, decorated with flowers, a children's choir will sing, and the bells will ring out. There will be traditional children's games on the village green next to the thatched Post Office which is open for souvenirs and ice cream. A Traditional Jazz band will play outside the village hall while you browse the bric-a-brac, tombola, home produce and plants stalls sipping a glass of Pimms from the bar. And finally there is the chance to see the splendid horses in Richard Phillips' racing stables... a memorable afternoon in this tranquil place.

- ❖ Children's Games ❖ Traditional Jazz Band ❖ Raffle and Tombola
